Dear Educator,

Thank you for ordering The Journey Inside: The Computer kit from Intel Corporation. Intel is dedicated to improving technology education for students, teachers and parents through a variety of programs. You can learn more about our education programs at www.intel.com/education.

Many teachers tell us that when they first open the kit, they're overwhelmed by the amount of material it contains. A great place to start your preparation for using the kit is to view the Teacher's Introduction Video.

Intel also publishes an online newsletter that provides information on our education programs and includes material designed to support the curriculum. It is available at www.intel.com/education/k12/resources.

If your colleagues are interested in receiving a free kit, please refer them to the toll-free number, 1-800-346-3029, to receive an informational brochure and order form.

Regards,

Intel Corporate Affairs Group
